FROM THE PRINCIPAL CLASS TEAM

Last Thursday and Friday the RMPS staff participated in two excellent days of professional learning.

On Thursday our facilitator was Adam Voigt from Real Schools and we continued our work on becoming a Restorative School.

Our work for the day included looking at explicit practice. The language around our practice must be explicit, it needs to have a restorative framework based on theory and research, use restorative questions and with fair processes in place. Being a Restorative School is about the culture of the school.

‘School culture is the set of norms, values and beliefs, rituals and ceremonies, symbols and stories that make up the ‘persona’ of the school. – Deal & Peterson 2002. The culture does not evolve from just the staff but from the whole community. For a healthy school culture there needs to be:

- An unwaivering belief that every student CAN and WILL be successful
- A philosophy, policies and practices that support the above
- A move from a ME mentality to a WE mentality
- FEEDBACK, not confrontation
- Practices that are ACTION ORIENTED

The school’s philosophy must align with shared purpose:

- Why are we here?
- What are we here to do together?
- What is the business of our business?

On the first day of the school year the staff looked at and discussed these three questions. It will also be a focus of discussions at School Council in order to align the purpose that the staff see that there is for their work on a daily basis and our parent representatives on Council.

On Friday we worked with Tracey Ezard and the focus of the day was having effective professional conversations. We discussed the importance of moving away from a Fixed Mindset to a Growth Mindset. Here you need to move away from and to:

DENY ---- ACCEPT
BLAME --- RESPONSIBILITY
JUSTIFY --- ACCOUNTABILITY
QUIT ------ ENGAGE

If you are interested in learning more about this then I can recommend the book MINDSET by Carol Dweck.

What’s Growing in the Robbie Mac Garden?

Last week, we decided to garden all of first recess, to avoid the intense heat. We made lots of progress in the raised-beds down by the gym! We turned over the soil and mixed in some rich compost, then gave everything a good soaking. We also harvested more delicious cherry tomatoes and baby-eggplants! Finally, we scattered egg shells to ward off any hungry snails that might be tempted to eat our lovely veg.

This week, we plan to work in the raised beds in the Junior area – see you there! 😊

If you or your child is interested in helping out with the garden, or you are able to donate any gardening equipment or supplies (or expertise), please speak to Ms Anita Siggins in J4S siggins.anita.a@edumail.vic.gov.au or Mr Tristan Liao in J2L liao.tristan.t@edumail.vic.gov.au
Congratulations Eva!

Eva has raised over $8,000 for the Leukaemia Foundation and shaved off her hair. We are so proud of her efforts, if you would like to donate and show your support, this can still be done until 30th June at https://secure.leukaemiafoundation.org.au/evaleahybaulch

Anxiety in Kids: How to Turn it Around and Protect Them For Life

Anxiety is a normal response to something dangerous or stressful. It becomes a problem when it shows up at unexpected times and takes a particularly firm hold. When anxiety is in full swing, it feels awful. Awful enough that anticipation of the feeling is enough in itself to cause anxiety.

We already know that anxiety has nothing to do with strength, courage or character. It picks a target and it switches on.

When that target is a child or teen, it can be particularly distressing, causing problems with sleeping, eating and missed school from unexplained illnesses such as sick tummies or headaches.

One of the worst things about anxiety is the way it can happen without any identifiable cause. The physical feeling is familiar – that panicked feeling that comes when you miss a stair or as my daughter recently described, ‘that feeling you get when you’re almost asleep and you feel like you’re falling.’ (‘Yes, we’ve dealt with it in our home too. It’s under control now, so I can assure you this works.)

The good news is that anxiety in kids is very treatable and they are particularly responsive. I often think we don’t give them enough credit. They’re so open to possibility, and very quick to make the right connections when they’re given the right information and support. As the adult in their life, you’re the perfect one to give it.

Program Update

Last week we all enjoyed “Japanese week” where we learnt all about Japan inspired by the children’s continued interest following the work they’ve done in school, the children had a great time with Japanese cooking, origami and calligraphy. This week our theme turns to “using manners” following parental feedback, where we’ll be discussing “what are good manners?” and focusing activities around this question.

Liz has accepted another promotion and so its with great sadness and excitement that we have to say goodbye as she works her last sessions with us, Azu will be taking over Liz’s position as program coordinator. On Thursday 24th at 9.30am we’ll be hosting a farewell morning tea for parents in the program room.

With the holidays fast approaching we encourage those families planning on attending holiday program to have a look over the planner available from the program room or online start making your bookings.

Important notice. Term 1 means hats and sunscreen, no hat no play. If you would like your children to keep a spare hat here at OSHClub please label it and it will be kept in the hat box. If your child is sensitive to generic sunscreen please provide some for them. All children who go outside must wear sunscreen and a hat.

A friendly reminder. The program concludes at 6pm each evening with a $2.00 per minute per child charge thereafter. If you are running late please contact us to let us know. All children enrolled in OSHClub must have fully updated anaphylaxis/asthma/risk management plans if needed and any medications required are to be held at the facility. No pen, no plan, no play.

Thankyou
